Changes of Sentiment
Licking county, 2,030.

Counties Yet to Vote.
Washington, January 13.
Gallia, January 18.

Licking county voted for the return of the licensed saloon at the Saturday election under the Rose county local option law the total majority in the city and county being 1282. In December 1908 the county voted dry by a majority of 748 which shows a reversal of sentiment in the county in the past three years of 2,030.

The election followed a campaign of about two weeks in which both sides maintained working organizations to advance their arguments. The Business Men's League and Tax Payers' Association of Licking county headed by O. C. Jones, president and John C. Brennan, secretary and manager. This organization was composed of many business and professional men of the city and county and was a perfect working organization.

From the headquarters in South Third street the workers handled the city and county organization, having every precinct in the county under organization.

From this office literature was prepared and mailed to voters, copy for the extensive advertising campaign was prepared and sent to the various city and county papers, the copy and "make-up" for an eight page paper filled with arguments in support of the liberal side of the question, was prepared and sent to the printers. This paper was mailed to practically every voter in Licking county. It is difficult to conceive the vast amount of labor which was necessary to engineer this systematic campaign, particularly since there was but a few short weeks in which to perfect the plans and put them into execution.

The local option league maintained headquarters just across the street from the Business Men's Association offices. Attorney J. H. Miller and Rev. Thomas H. Warner headed this organization and from their offices made plans for the campaign and put them into execution.

This organization also prepared a large quantity of literature which was mailed or delivered to the homes of voters in the various precincts of the county.

The local option league also conducted an extensive newspaper campaign using much advertising space throughout the two weeks immediately preceding the election.

For the local option league, ex-Mayor James H. Cannon, Robert Rutledge of Cleveland who for years has been a speaker for the anti-saloon league and Wayne B. Wheeler of Columbus addressed audiences at the high school and local churches. Besides these speakers for the "drys" many local men spoke for the organization.

The local option league did not confine its speaking campaign to the city but conducted numerous meetings throughout the country districts.

For the Business Men's Association Rev. J. E. Meeker of St. Louis C. Homer Durand of Cincinnati, and C. A. Whittle of Chicago, delivered addresses before big audiences at the High School auditorium and the Auditorium theatre. These were the only meetings held by this association, there being none outside of the city.

It was early apparent that the vote throughout the county would be very tight as the weather was so severe and the roads so rough that many of the voters in the rural districts would not travel any great distance to cast their ballot.

In the city there was also a falling off of the vote. Early Saturday the light vote indicated that the full voting strength would not be polled, but an afternoon rush at the various booths brought up the total to somewhere near the normal figures.

It was not long after the polls closed in the evening before the result in the city was known. The first report was received at 5:50 o'clock. From that time on until 7:30 the reports from the city came in rapidly.

The country precincts were much slower and it was 9:45 before the last county precinct Franklin township, reported to the election board. Then the board members on duty at the office of the election supervisors, were compelled to call up the election officials of Franklin township to get the figures. Harton village and Hartford township were also slow in reporting and the board called Croton by telephone and got the figures.

When the final returns from the city indicated that the city had returned a wet majority of 2593 it was believed that the county would swing back into the "wet" column. When half of the county precincts had reported and almost without exception showed wet gains over the 1908 vote, it was seen that there was no doubt (Continued on Page 2.)

ORDER COST 1,000 LIVES

Sun Francisco, Nov. 8.—Resistance to the government's order for the disarmament cost the lives of nearly 1,000 Moro warriors, according to army officers arriving from the Philippines. The task of subduing the natives turned out more serious than they anticipated.

SUPREME COURT CONVENES AFTER HOLIDAY RECESS

Washington, Jan. 8.—With more than one hundred cases under consideration, the Supreme Court of the United States is expected to hand down many important decisions today, when it convenes after the holiday recess.

More light may be shed on the anti-trust problem by decisions in the St. Louis bridge case, the "hard coal" suit against the principal anthracite coal-carrying railroads and coal-producing companies of Pennsylvania, and the "cotton corner" case, arising out of transactions on the New York Cotton Exchange.

The validity of several federal laws may be determined. Foremost among these is the Employers' Liability law, which has been under consideration by the court since last February. A second decision may be rendered regarding the validity of the "Carmack amendment" to the Interstate Commerce laws, whereby initial carriers were made liable for damages or loss of goods whether occurring on their lines or those of connecting carriers.

The fate of a score or more of state laws may be decided. Of these, the constitutionality of the Oregon initiative and referendum system has attracted the most attention, because the ruling of the court will be applicable to laws in nearly half the states of the union.

Foreign corporation laws of Kansas, New York, and Texas may be passed upon. Other laws under consideration are the "Hours of Service Law" for railroad employees in the state of Washington, the Missouri anti-trust law, the "Norfolk Dakota drainage law," the Kansas "Black Rocker" law, the New York transfer tax law, the Montana law taxing hand laundries, the North Carolina law regulating the receipt of goods by railroads, and the Arkansas law requiring railroads to pay within 30 days claims for live stock killed by trains.

Several general questions of law may be decided such as the validity of the transfer of allotted lands by thousands of Oklahoma Indians, and the liability of insurance companies for policies on the lives of men executed for murder. The latter point arose in the case of Samuel J. McCue, mayor of Charlottesville, Va., who was executed in 1905 for the murder of his wife.

ACTRESS COSTS PEER AN AMERICAN BRIDE

MISS PHYLLIS DARE

The engagement of Miss Antoinette Hecksher, of New York, to the Hon. Oliver Sylvian Ballou Brett, son of Viscount Esher, Lord High Constable of Windsor Castle, has been suddenly ended, and it is said that Phyllis Dare, an actress in the Gaiety theater in London, is one of the reasons. Lord Esher has been socially ostracized by royalty because he has encouraged his second son, Maurice Brett, in the latter's attentions to Miss Dare. When Miss Hecksher's American mother learned the hand of Lord Esher's son wouldn't bring with it a place in exclusive court society, she caused the engagement to be terminated.

MEANS DEATH SENTENCE FOR REV. RICHESON

Boston, Jan. 8.—Broken in spirit and weakened in body Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, late pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church at Cambridge, is expected to go before the Suffolk county superior criminal court today to offer a plea of guilty to the indictment charging him with murder by poison of "Avis" Bennett of Hyattsville. While the court has no other alternative than to pass the death sentence, counsel for Richeson have hope that the pastor's confession will have sufficient weight for a commutation of the death sentence to that of life imprisonment.

ADMITS PASSING BOGUS CHECKS

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 8.—E. Klein the alleged forger wanted at Scranton, Pa., left for that place yesterday with Detective D. J. Davis, who was sent here by the Scranton prosecutors. Before leaving Klein admitted that he is the John C. Rogers, wanted at Dayton, O., for passing bogus checks while pretending to be a wealthy real estate operator.

TROUSERED DR. MARY CALLS ON PRESIDENT

DR. MARY WALKER

Dr. Mary Walker is visiting in Washington, following the New Year reception at the White House, when she called on President Taft. She wore her usual male attire, but instead of an overcoat she now affects a short fur cape that just covers her shoulders.

TRACED BY HIS WIFE'S LETTERS

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—According to police officials, John Stacey and George Rabenau, arrested yesterday on the charge of having murdered Mrs. Hattie Kaufman in Chicago Dec. 2, were traced to Los Angeles by means of letters from Stacey's wife after the death of their baby. The prisoners, who were watched by detectives while they were beating their way west on freight trains. Both prisoners were informed that the police here had received advices from Chicago that detectives had been sent to take them back. They made no comment except that they were willing to return.

Stacey and Rabenau spent a quiet Sunday in their cells. Each refused to see missionary workers who visit the prison every Sunday.

SEN. LORIMER TO TESTIFY IN OWN BEHALF

Washington, Jan. 8.—United States Senator William Lorimer of Illinois will take the stand in his own defense in the senate investigation of his election today. It will be the first time Senator Lorimer has testified under oath during the investigation. Albert Haney, chief counsel for Mr. Lorimer, said his client would probably be on the stand for two days.

TROOPS CLASH IN ECUADOR

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Jan. 8.—A clash occurred today between the two opposing armies in Ecuador. The vanguard of the two forces one of which has espoused the cause of General Alara, who was to have assumed the presidency of the provincial government proclaimed by Governor Montero at Guayaquil and the other under the command of Leonidas Clava, who has the support of the inhabitants, came into conflict. General Clava's forces retired.

FORMER DELEGATES CALL CACUS TODAY

Columbus, Jan. 8.—With the calling of a caucus of the former delegates to the constitutional convention here this afternoon it was reported that an effort was being made to unite this element in opposition to Herbert S. Bigelow. It was announced that 24 former delegates had consented to take part in this caucus, but none of these would state the real purpose of the meeting nor whether part of the movement was against Bigelow.

E. W. Dody of Cleveland, manager of Herbert S. Bigelow's candidacy for president of the constitutional convention, announced today he would make public a list of the delegates pledged to the support of the election of Bigelow. He claimed the list contained more than the 60 names required for election. Harry Young, manager of Caleb H. Norris' campaign expressed equal confidence in the election of his man. D. P. Anderson of Youngstown, third candidate, is making his fight to have a committee appointed to name the president.

Boats in Collision.

Portsmouth, England, Jan. 8.—The battleship Revenge broke from her moorings here yesterday, and, owing to the exceptionally high tide, drifted on to the bows of the super-dreadnaught Orion. A hole was stove in the starboard quarter of the Revenge, but the Orion apparently was not damaged. Both vessels will be docked.

BRYAN CAUSED TUMULT

Takes Hand in Meeting of National Convention Committee

APPEALED FROM CHAIR

n Decision Regarding Alabama
Member---Five Cities
After Convention

Washington, Jan. 8.—When the Democratic National Convention Committee went into session shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon, William J. Bryan at once became a storm center in an attempt to have James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, thrown off the committee.

The roll call of the states had but started when the "trouble" broke. James M. Weatherly of Alabama was recently selected by the Alabama state committee to succeed John M. Tomlinson, deceased. When his name was called today Mr. Bryan asked if there was any protest. None being received the Nebraskan moved that the selection be approved. National Committeeman Brown of Vermont, declared that the affirmative act by the national committee was unnecessary that matter lying entirely in the hands of the state committee.

Chairman Mack sustained him. "I appeal from the decision of the chair," shouted Mr. Bryan. He declared that it was plain that there was a proposition on foot to head off the feeling against Guffey, and that the matter ought to be thoroughly discussed. At this point the convention went into extra session.

Mr. Bryan's appeal from the ruling in the case was defeated by a vote of 33 to 13. This indicated that the committee was against the Nebraskan in the fight on Col. Guffey and that the latter would be retained in the committee in spite of all opposition.

With the Alabama case disposed of the committee immediately took up the Duffy-Palmer contest with a time limit of one hour in arguments. Mr. Bryan's speech declared the committee had the right to review the action of the state committee to determine the eligibility of members. He cited the proceedings in the Lorimer case in the United States Senate. The senate could not elect Lorimer but it could determine if he was eligible. If a man is disloyal to his party, Mr. Bryan contended that the national committee should not receive him as a member.

With five cities in the race for the honor the Democratic national committee met here today to decide the time and place for the next Democratic National Convention. Baltimore seems to have a slight lead early today, but St. Louis is a strong competitor. New York, Denver and Chicago have also put in claims. The time of holding the convention will probably be two weeks after the Republican national convention which will be held June 18. William J. Bryan, Nebraskan, promises to be an important factor in today's proceedings.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Incident to the meeting of the National Committee here today the Democratic political pot is simmering. Today William Jennings Bryan will arrive in Washington.

Reville him as some of the leaders do, the fact remains and is strongly apparent on the day of the meeting of the national committee that the chief interest centers in what the Nebraskan will do.

No one seems to be able to answer the query definitely. Bryan has been out of the country for so long that even his closest friends are not well informed as to his plans and purposes, for they have not been in touch with him. They have a pretty good idea, however, as to what position he will take upon certain subjects, and they know that at least he will inject a little ginger into the events of the next two or three days.

BOY KILLS HIS MOTHER WITH BUTCHER KNIFE

Milford, Mass., Jan. 8.—Clarence L. Racine, 17, killed his mother, Mrs. Lewis Racine, with a butcher knife and set fire to the house and then fatally shot himself in the head. The blaze was extinguished with little loss by the firemen. The boy is supposed to have been temporarily insane.

PETER BARCUS OF NEAR JOHNSTOWN SUICIDED BY HANGING SELF IN BARN

Peter Barcus, aged about fifty years, who lived with his wife and five children on a small farm a short distance north of Johnstown, near the Delaware county line, committed suicide Saturday evening by hanging himself in his barn.

The deceased had apparently been in the enjoyment of his usual good health and all day Saturday had been cheerful, with no sign that he premeditated self-destruction. Saturday evening he went out to the barn and did the chores as usual, after which he deliberately hanged himself to one of the beams in the barn, his dead body being found some time after.

Mr. Barcus had made a trip to Condit on Friday for the purpose of delivering some milk, and while on the road became very cold, but he made no complaint, and no reason can be assigned why he should take his life. His home life was always pleasant and he was not financially embarrassed.

It is thought by some that his mind became unbalanced which led him to commit the rash deed. The funeral services were held on Monday and the interment was made in the cemetery at Condit.

Coroner Dr. W. E. Wylarch was notified of the suicide but was unable to reach the scene and deputized Dr. Hempstead of Croton to inspect the body and attend to the legal phases of the case.

OBSOBE WRITER WILL SPEND $1,000 WINDFALL IN ONE DAY'S JOY JOURNEY TO NEW YORK JUST TO SEE HOW IT SEEMS TO BE RICH

John Jay MacDevitt is a humorist who publishes a little magazine in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Therefore when MacDevitt, having knocked Democratic politicians' plans galley-west by running for and obtaining the nomination for treasurer of his home county, was paid something like $1,000 to withdraw, he determined to make a real splash for once in his life. He has arranged for the chartering of a special train upon which he will ride to New York, and there go to the Waldorf-Astoria, occupy a box at one of the most expensive theaters in the evening, ride around in taxicabs, smoke the best perfections, tip everybody generously when he is broke to go to work.

COUNTY OPTION ELECTION

about the result. The question was merely one of the size of the majority of 1282.

With seventeen precincts in the county yet to report, officials at the election board figured that the wet majority in city and county would be from 1200 to 1500. The guess was not far wrong as was shown by the final result which gave the wets a majority of 1282.

The posting of the returns was watched from in front of The Advocate's big windows by a good sized crowd, though the weather was intensely cold and a fine snow was falling. The interest was great, though it did not compare with the intensity of the feeling of three years ago.

The telephones at The Advocate office rang merrily up to midnight. Both telephone companies furnished their subscribers with the returns and there were hundreds of calls at both exchanges.

At the Bell telephone office, the company arranged to have two instruments at the service of the newspaper until all returns were in. This greatly facilitated the handling of the returns between the election board and the newspaper offices. The service was appreciated by the newspaper men.

The interest in the election by people outside of Newark and Licking county was indicated by the orders from city papers from local correspondents. All the city papers carried lengthy accounts of the election.

From present indications there will be forty or fifty saloons opened for business within the next week. The dealers can open up as soon as they have paid their Alken tax to the county auditor, after the official vote of the city and county has been certified to the county auditor and state officials.

From present indications, this will take place late Monday or Tuesday morning. The places that are ready can open up for business as soon as the Alken tax is paid to the county auditor.

Others who have had their interiors dismantled since the town voted three years ago, will need some time to get things into shape again.

It is understood that several places will be re-equipped with elaborate bars as soon as the furniture can be received from the manufacturers.

Monday morning there were numerous salesmen in the city for wholesale liquor houses, dealers in bar glassware, bar fixtures, etc., calling on prospective customers and taking orders for the immediate shipment.

The citizens' committee which had charge of the campaign for the prohibition association will continue its organization and will assist the city officials in the enforcement of the law. They will do all in their power to secure the observance of the saloon regulation and will co-operate with the officials in securing a sane regulation of the various places.

CITY OFFICIALS TO REGULATE SALOONS

Carrying out the promises and policy of his administration, Mayor F. M. Swartz, through the safety director, Wayne Collier, this morning issued "General Order No. 1," regarding the regulation of saloons and other places which are placed under certain restrictions by city ordinances and state laws. The order is as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY.
Police Division.
Newark, O., Jan. 8, 1912.

Elmer Blizzard, Chief of Police.
Sir—You are hereby directed to observe and enforce the following General Order No. 1:

Saloons and places where intoxicating liquors are sold must be closed each day at 12 o'clock, midnight, and remain closed until 5 o'clock a. m. and remain closed during Sunday.

COMMITTEE WILL BENEFIT BY THE OPTION ELECTION

A meeting of the finance committee of the city council will be held Tuesday evening when the members of the committee will go over the budgets from the various municipal departments. This committee held a preliminary meeting last Friday evening and went over some features of the ordinance. The result of Saturday's election will have considerable effect upon the work of this committee as they will have a much larger sum of money with which to work. The city gets a considerable portion of the amounts paid into the county treasury for Alken tax and the committee will not be compelled to trim the appropriations asked as much as has been the custom in past years.

WATKINS WILL RETIRE FROM BASEBALL

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The opposition which was expected to develop in the re-election of Thomas Chivington as president of the American association, melted away when that body went into annual session at the Congress hotel Saturday and not alone was he unanimously chosen as his own successor, but his tenure of office was increased to five years with an increase of salary. Some opposition developed over the lengthening of the presidential term, three club voting against the extension. William Grapson, of Louisville, was elected president.

With the end in view of making it impossible for other clubs to invade the territory of the American association without doing so as "out laws," that body passed a resolution declaring that no club member of the American association should permit any other minor league organization to maintain control or operate any ball club in the territory under control of such member under a penalty of $500 for each game played in its territory.

In order to give each club representation on the board of directors the number was increased from five to eight, making it the first time in the history of organized baseball that a single number has acted as a governing body of the league.

One of the surprises of the meeting was the announcement on the part of W. H. Watkins, veteran manager of the Indianapolis club, that he would dispose of his holdings and retire from the game. Watkins came to Indianapolis in the early nineties and joined John T. Brush in the building up of the game in that city. For nearly two decades he has been identified with a club in the "Hoosier city" either as manager or president. Mr. Watkins was one of the charter members of the American league, his team captured the American association pennant in 1908.

AMUSEMENTS

Press Agent Says:

"BABY MINE."
"Baby Mine," William A. Brady's successful comedy which comes to the Auditorium next Saturday, matinee and night, is one fascinating whirl of bright and contagious fun from beginning to end. A capable and well balanced company is entrusted with the presentation of the piece and bring out each character in a manner that speaks volumes for the versatility of the different artists who fill the respective roles. The production was made by William A. Brady, Ltd. The play broke all records at Daly's theatre, New York, where it was presented for one solid year. It has also met with great success in London, where it has been running for two years and is now being witnessed by capacity audiences at the Criterion theatre in that city. Before the close of the present season it will be seen in Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Australia and South America.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER."
Brightest and best of all light operas that have filled the American and European continents with their tuneful echoes since the days of Gilbert and Sullivan is "The Chocolate Soldier," the well known work of Oscar Straus, leader of Vienna's musical circles, who has contrived to embody the spirit of the romantic comedy satire "Arms and the Man" of George Bernard Shaw in melodies that are yet on the lips of millions. Still on the pinnacle of its popularity under the finished presentation of the Whitney Opera company, "The Chocolate Soldier" is marching into town to be reviewed by the theatre-goers of this city at the Auditorium soon.

The Orpheum.
"The Story of the Rose" as presented by the Robert Beram Company is a special feature of the program which opens at the popular Arcade theatre this afternoon. This is a high class playlet and is presented by this excellent company is sure to prove very entertaining. The Frelai Brothers offer a distinct novelty in an absurd mélange of fun and nonsense. The comedy break-away stunts produced by this team using automobiles, boxing gloves and horizontal bars are a hit everywhere. "The Fairy's Picnic" is another treat in new songs, stories and good clean comedy.

Max Dillae and Beth Geyer are winning much favor with their productions and you will like them too. Lew and Ethel McPhee are offering a singing and dancing act that is said to be up-to-the minute. Miss McPhee is known to possess an excellent soprano and Lew is winning much favor in his "Rube" character. The Orpheumscope has a feature film.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

No case of contagious blood poison is ever cured until the last particle of the virus has been removed from the circulation. The least taint left in the blood will sooner or later, cause a fresh outbreak of the trouble, with all its hideous and destructive symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. No other medicine so surely cures contagious blood poison as S. S. S. It goes down into the blood and steadily and surely drives out every particle of this vital fluid as fresh, rich and healthy as it was before the destructive virus of contagious blood poison entered the circulation. S. S. S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin cleared of all spots, sores and other blemishes, the hair stops coming out, the mouth and throat heal and when S. S. S. has cleansed the system of the poison no trace of the disease is left. S. S. S. cures contagious blood poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven for more than forty years. Book on this disease with suggestions for home treatment, and any medical advice sent free to all who write.

BASKET BALL.

In spite of the fact that the weather was as cold as Greenland Mickey Hall was well filled with enthusiastic spectators to witness the opening basket ball game between Newark High and Coshocton. The game was called promptly at 8 o'clock, and while it was fast and scrappy, yet it was characterized by its cleanliness, there being only one foul called during the entire game. This fact was largely due to the efficient work of the officials, C. Moore and R. Perry. Myers, starred for the visitors and James Brown starred for the locals. In order to try out his men and give every man a chance, Coach Millisor used a large number of men and made many changes during the game. At the close of the game the entire team was composed of substitutes. Coach Millisor seemed much pleased with the work of his team and Newark High will have one of the strongest teams this year of any in its history.

Owing to the extremely cold weather, Pro. Neptune, director of athletics for Newark High, thought best to postpone the girls' game between the sophomores and juniors. This game will be played later. The final score was Newark High 37 and Coshocton 15. The line-up:

JOHNSON AND FLYNN TO BOX IN NEVADA

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The next heavyweight championship bout will be staged in Nevada. Jack Johnson and Jim Flynn Saturday night Jack Johnson's match-making talk, got down to business and signed the articles. Under the agreement Jack Johnson is to receive $1,100; $20,000 as his share and $1,100 additional for expenses. Corley did not announce the terms with Jim Flynn and the match will be staged some time in July.

Corley reserved the naming of the date of the contest until May 1 at which time he has agreed to name the principals of the exact place and date. The club posts $10,000 and each one of the boxers $5,000. Representatives of all the news agencies and each of the Chicago papers were present at the match-making.

Corley will leave for Salt Lake City in a few days to close up the details of the match.

This means that Johnson's fight with Sam McVey may be shelved or postponed in favor of the Flynn battle.

Before May 1, however, Flynn will fight Al Kubacki, of Toronto, and possibly Al Polzer in New York. Johnson protested today against the Polzer match taking place.

A referee will be selected later. Tim Sullivan, of New York, who held the fight money for the Jeffries and Johnson battle, was chosen stakeholder. Before February 10 Corley must post a forfeit of $10,000 and Johnson and Flynn $5,000 each or the articles will be declared void.

ESCAPING GAS COST THREE LIVES

Toledo, O., Jan. 8.—Three lives have been claimed by escaping gas here within 48 hours. R. G. Shelton, a teamster aged 32, was found dead in bed at his home early today. The partly opened gas jet had allowed the room to fill with gas.

Edward Geron, aged 71 years, was found dead, sitting before a stove in his room. An open gas jet above his head had allowed the room to become filled with gas. He had been dead for more than six hours, Coroner Densler says.

Louis Deano, aged 22, died this evening at one of the hospitals as a result of becoming unconscious from gas fumes in his room Friday night.

FIRE CAUSED BY GAS STOVE IN THE ATTIC

The low temperature Saturday night was the indirect cause of a destructive fire at the home of John Seabold on Andover street, near Penny avenue Saturday night about 11 o'clock. A small gas stove which had been started in an attic to prevent the water pipes from freezing, set fire to the woodwork and before the blaze was extinguished a loss of $500 resulted.

The Seabold family retired as usual thinking the low fire in a small stove was perfectly safe. It is thought that the increase in the gas pressure resulted in the stove becoming overheated, setting fire to the woodwork in the attic.

The stove was placed in a small space over the kitchen which is a one story structure built on to the house. The fire soon spread through the roof of the kitchen and burned its way through the weather boarding and then into the attic over the main part of the dwelling. It had gained considerable headway before the arrival of the department.

The bitter cold handicapped firemen in their fight against the blaze and almost as soon as the water struck the sides of the building or fell to the ground it froze. The clothing of the firemen was soon covered with a mass of ice.

As the blaze had gained such headway, it was necessary to use a large quantity of water and much damage to the lower floors of the interior resulted. It is thought that the loss will not amount to more than $800. In a statement to the Advocate Mr. Seabold said that he had carried insurance on the house and contents until last fall when he inadvertently allowed the insurance to lapse, so the loss on the house and contents will be total.

OVERHEATED STOVE CAUSED FIRE ALARM

An alarm of fire Monday afternoon at 12:35 o'clock called the Central, North and East End companies to the vacant store room just south of the Adams Express office on Third street. The room had been scrubbed out and a fire had been started in a gas heating stove for the purpose of drying out the room. During the absence of the persons in charge the stove became overheated and set fire to the woodwork beneath the stove. The fire, however, was extinguished with several buckets of water.

DESTRUCTION OF HOME SAVED BY BOY'S INSTINCT

Saturday evening, J. E. Sherrard, who lives in the Cherry Valley, near the Automobile Works, started down to the city for the purpose of visiting a friend. His little twelve year old son, Willie, started to accompany him, but after going a short distance said to his father, "Something tells me I had better remain home as something is surely going to happen." The little boy then went back to the house and Mr. Sherrard came down town and remained until 11:30 o'clock when he started home. He had arrived at a point some two or three hundred yards from his home when he detected the odor of burning cloth. He hurried home and found the place enveloped in a haze of smoke. Bursting in the door he ran to the bed room where he found his little son sleeping. Awakening him he said that during his absence all the clothes that had been hanging on hooks in the kitchen had caught fire, and that he had thrown a down and threw them out in the yard. In doing so he had his hands burned slightly. His left hip, however, was badly burned. He is being cared for by his mother and Mrs. Lippincott.

PLEASANT MEETING OF NEAR NEIGHBORS ACROSS THE OCEAN

The young lady surprised Mr. Jones by saying that her home was in Caerphilly, just six miles from Mr. Jones' old home.

PHOTOGRAPHS TAKEN IN THICK OF FIGHTING WHICH ESTABLISHED REPUBLIC IN CHINA SHOW EFFICIENCY OF REVOLUTIONARY FORCES

Upper Picture: REBELS, ENTRENCHED AT HANKOW. Middle: TYPICAL MEMBERS OF THE REBEL ARMY. Bottom: OPERATING 3-INCH GUN AT HANKOW.

These are photographs taken in the thick of the fighting that has reduced the Chinese imperial government to a position where the triumph of the republic is almost certain. In the top picture is shown a detachment of rebel troops firing from their trenches at "Kilo Metre 10" in the battle of Hankow. Many of the rebels in the middle picture, also taken at Hankow, are deserters from the imperial forces. The lower view, showing rebel gunners working a three-inch weapon during the attack on Hankow, gives a good idea of the modernness and efficiency of these troops. Note the attitude of the two men standing at attention while their comrade sights his weapon through the opening torn in the adjacent stockade.

MERCURY STARTS FOR TOP OF TUBE

Newark people were glad today when the mercury started slowly toward the top of the tube after it had made a fairly successful effort to retire into the bulb, at the bottom. Sunday night at 10 o'clock the thermometer in front of the Central fire department registered zero and this morning at 6 o'clock it registered 11 degrees above. At 10 o'clock it registered 28 degrees.

As a natural consequence of the moderating of the weather, the gas pressure increased and Sunday it was above normal and those who depend upon gas for light and heat were comfortable in their homes for the first time in several days. According to the weather man there is no immediate prospect of another drop in the temperature. However, he promises us snow for tonight and Tuesday and this "spell" of real winter may yet develop some good sleighing.

The boys on the canal enjoyed the cold weather of the past few days, but were loud in their condemnation of the weather man for sending the snow which had a tendency to spoil the ice. At the office of the Natural Gas Company the statement was made that the pressure was excellent. The normal pressure was reached Sunday and unless another severe cold snap comes on there will be no danger of another shortage in the immediate future.

Shortly after noon Monday the snow which fell at intervals during the morning turned to sleet and rain and a brisk wind blew from the south west, making it very disagreeable for pedestrians on the street. The mercury continued its advance towards the top of the thermometer and by 3 o'clock it was close to 40 degrees.

TO DISCOURAGE LYNCHING

(Pittsburg Sunday Dispatch.)

It should be noted, in justice to Newark, Ohio, that it has set an example in the punishment of lynchings that might well be emulated in Pennsylvania as well as in other States where lynching is more common. The lynching of Carl Etherington in Newark, a year and a half ago, was a sensation for the whole country. Few people know what Newark did to prevent the recurrence of the crime.

The trials just brought to an end resulted in 30 convictions. One was for murder in the second degree, 13 dicted by J. H. Miller and Rev. T. H. Warner, for the "wets" by the Business Men's and Taxpayers League, of which Mr. O. C. Jones was chairman. The latter organization was backed by 250 business men who before entering the campaign, secured pledges from Mayor Swartz and Safety Director Collier that they would enforce the law and pledges from the liquor dealers that they would obey the law.

The election proceeded without any disturbance from any source. The result was received in the same manner. Monday's police court record showed two arrests, a creditable record that speaks for itself.

Everywhere about town is heard a sigh of relief that the election is over; everywhere is a feeling of hope for betterment and greater business activity.

The people have taken Mayor Swartz and Director Collier at their word and they believe that they will do just what they agreed to do, viz enforce the law without fear or favor.

Let us now get down to business, enforce all of the laws to the letter, forget past differences of opinion and all pull together for the advancement, the growth, the betterment of Newark. Let us all help the new officials and the business men in their task. Newark can be made to grow and to prosper wonderfully if the proper spirit is shown and the proper effort is made. Let everybody help in the promotion of Greater Newark.

THE ELECTION

Zero temperature and dissatisfaction combined Saturday to produce a total vote of 2100 less than was cast at the first election under the Rose law in 1908. Yet the result of the second election is emphatic.

The so-called "dry" majority of 748 is swept away and a so-called "wet" majority of 1282 is substituted.

The terms "wet and dry" are misnomers for it was very generally recognized that the issue was not wet OR dry, but was wet under conditions such as have prevailed here since 1908 or wet under regulation. Three years ago the issue was WET OR DRY and the people of the country precincts by a majority of 2305 said "dry." At the same time the people of Newark said "wet" by a majority of 1557 and at once arose the difficult task of enforcing a law of which the majority of the people of Newark disapproved. In consequence the law was practically ignored and conditions followed that brought on the lamentable tragedy of July 8, 1910. At intervals raids were made and sporadic efforts to enforce the law were made but when the "lid" was tightened kitchen bars and bootlegging flourished.

Conditions became intolerable and at times the friends of good government became disheartened. The city became divided and bitterness increased. The people in the country became estranged and in consequence Newark business interests suffered. Many men who from principle favored temperance, openly and emphatically pronounced the Rose law in its application to Licking county a failure and this fact was reflected in the absence from the stump during the campaign of many local orators who three years ago had espoused the dry cause.

A sharp and strenuous campaign of two weeks was conducted. There was fortunately less exaggeration used in the advertisements and public meetings than in the previous campaign and fewer personalities were indulged in. Some things were improperly done. The question at issue, however, was considered upon its merits.

The dries argued that to vote the county wet would be a backward step, a practical endorsement of the 1910 tragedy, the legalization of a recognized evil; that the open saloon was a greater menace to young manhood than liquor sold on the sly.

The wets pointed to the three years practical operation of the Rose law and presented facts from the court records which could not be refuted; they showed that instead of endorsing the Etherington tragedy the people had condemned it in the most emphatic way, having convicted more than 30 men thus establishing a record unequalled by all the other states of the union combined. The liberals argued that the open saloon under regulation was a lesser evil than the blindfold and bootlegger.

The campaign for the dries was con-

JACK OF ALL TRADES.

One day we see him painting houses or nailing shingles on the roof; next he's seen dehorning coves or herding turkeys on the hoof. A handy man, yo always hire him when trifling jobs are to be done; but people do not oft desire him for work that costs a bunch of mon. He'll paint a fence or clean a furnace r shake the rugs and sweep the floors; he'll do his duty where the churn is, and tackle forty other chores. For willingness he is a dandy; he flies around on speedy feet. A man, you'd think, so mighty handy, should have a shack on East street. And ver he's always on his uppers, his tolls so lightly received, while neighbors call their gorgeous supper he has to foot on lewernwurst. To learn one trade and learn it fully, to master every small detail, that is the plan that makes life bully, and brings in fifty kinds of kale.

CONGRESS BUSY WITH POLITICS

Presidential Campaign Dwarfs All Other Themes.

MANY ELEMENTS OF DOUBT.

Most Uncertain Fight in Sixteen Years. Many Petitions Against Arbitration Treaties—How West Point Cadets Kept Girls From Getting Buttons. Ollie James to Buy a House.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Jan. 8.—(Special.)—Presidential politics and very little else holds the center of the stage these days. The country may be under the impression that congress is here to enact wise legislation for the benefit of the people, but the facts are that congress is here to elect the next president.

This crops out in every conversation where half a dozen people congregate, or, to be more explicit, where even two people get beyond the matter of passing the time of day and exchanging inquiries concerning health, a discussion of presidential politics is sure to follow. Senators, representatives, visitors, newspaper men, officeholders and all others are deeply concerned in the campaign of 1912. It must be that the people everywhere are much interested or there would not be so much talk in the capital.

Why 1912 is different. This presidential year differs from every one of the last three presidential campaigns. Who was there in January, 1900, 1904 or 1908, that could not have told who was likely to be elected president? Everybody knew that the Republican nominee was almost sure to win, and everybody could tell who was to be that nominee in spite of the various booms.

Who can tell who is to be elected this year? Why, it is almost impossible to guess the Democratic nominee! And if this Roosevelt talk keeps up there will be a deal of guessing soon as to the Republican nominee. And it is this uncertainty which makes the campaign this year so interesting.

Value of Petitions. It is noticed that the senators opposed to the arbitration treaties present more petitions in their favor than the senators who favor the agreements. It means that public sentiment is being worked up in communities represented by senators who are standing against the treaties. And yet all these petitions seem to make no difference and have no influence in shaping the opinions of senators. It raises the question as to the value of petitions in forcing legislation.

Here is More Economy. For years past—in fact, so long ago that the oldest habits about the senate cannot recall a different condition—there has been a liberal supply of calendars at the beginning of each year. They have been plain, neat and useful, and employees and others who frequent the capitol have always secured them. This year the wave of economy has struck the senate, and no calendars are furnished except to senators. It's all right, of course, and the people will be glad to know that real economy has taken possession of the senate.

Saved Their Buttons. West Point cadets and Annapolis midshipmen who were in Washington for a short time for the holidays found that they did not have buttons enough for the girls. The West Pointers saved theirs by having lit upon an ingenious device. "Oh, yes, you can have one of them," they would say to the insistent bud. "Just unscrew it."

Then the button would be turned and turned, and finally the girl discovered that it was made that way. It couldn't come off without a surgical operation.

Why the Maine Was Raised. During the holidays in Washington a certain lady who is a friend of Admiral Sigsbee was serving a very alluring drink of unusual delicacy and flavor. One of her guests asked her for the recipe and name of the beverage.

"It is called Sigsbee punch," she answered, "and the recipe was on board the Maine when she went down in Havana harbor."

"Well, I know now why they raised the Maine," was the reply. "You should have a model of the vessel on your punch bowl."

Chickens in Alaska. Governor Hoggitt of Alaska says that the first chickens taken to Puvion City in the early days died for loss of sleep.

"There is practically no darkness in the summer days," he said, "and they never went to roost. But some of us thought the problem out, organized a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, covered the coops with tarpaulin every day about 7 o'clock, and after that the death rate was reduced to a minimum."

Defense of Art. Representative Slayden occasionally lapses into legal phraseology. He received a telegram shortly before starting for Washington to this effect: "Can you make speech in defense of art in Washington before the Arts club?"

He answered: "I guess so. What's the indictment?"

tions existing in the older and less homogeneous commonwealths, their people will not attribute to a desire to retain or restore acknowledged evils an inclination to wait to be shown that a proposed innovation would really be an improvement.

"Everywhere they went the governors met men who do things rather than the men who say things. And they did not find the Goddess of Liberty displaced by the Golden Calf."

HARMON LETTER FOR THE JACKSON DAY BANQUETERS

Columbus, O., Jan. 8.—Although Governor Harmon will not be present at the Jackson Day Banquet at the Southern Hotel tonight, he has written a letter to President Franklin Rubrecht which is said to be quite interesting. It will be read at the dinner.

The feast will begin promptly at 7 o'clock, according to Mr. Rubrecht, and no seats are to be had after 2 o'clock this afternoon. Speakers are due to arrive by noon and will be taken in charge at the Southern hotel by a reception committee of 50, headed by Judge S. L. Black.

Owing to the probable presence of a greater number than were expected a few days ago, the group plan of seating guests has been abandoned and they will be seated at long tables. Judges of the Supreme Court Donahue and Johnson will have seats at the banquet table.

It is expected that nearly 400 will sit down as guests of the Franklin County Democratic club, the guests including prominent Democrats from

Some Things College Life Does for a Girl.

COLLEGE life for women has crept so insensibly into the life of today, that few of us, unless right in touch with it, realize what an important part it is playing in our national, civil and home life. Some things have been brought out by recent statistics, not only worth considering, but bright with promise for the future, because of this college training our girls are getting.

For one thing though few men's colleges have all the students they can accommodate, women's colleges are crowded beyond their limits. Bryn Mawr's dormitories are filled to their capacity every fall, notwithstanding its rigorous standards. Barnard has nine hundred students in class-rooms intended for five hundred. Vassar sits an entrance class of three hundred or three hundred and fifty from about seven hundred applicants. And so it goes. Everywhere the cry comes of girls seeking greater knowledge, greater development, the tools that will make them more useful. Twenty years ago, they equalled in number, one-fourth of the men in college. Today, they are one-half the number; and at the present rate, in twenty years, they will far outnumber the men studying at college.

This in itself is worthy of consideration; for the college-trained woman is already a power that is being felt in the home, in business, in the professions, in politics.

But what else besides a greater education, a broader outlook on life, better ability to use her powers, whatever they may be, is the college giving women? Here again, statistics tell us something valuable.

If there is one problem today that is very much to the front in American life, it is the divorce question. At present, generally speaking, there is one divorce for every eleven marriages; and we are told by these workers in figures, that in ten years, there will be a divorce for every marriage. That's rather a solemn thing to face, isn't it, because probably you or I may not be contemplating a divorce just at present. But seemingly, the only way to escape it is to induce some of the New York society men or women to increase their number of divorce proceedings. They evidently do not mind it, and they are familiar with the method. So if they would speed up to six or a dozen divorces, some of us could get along without any. But if they do not, according to the statistical man, in ten years, all of us will be getting divorces.

But the statistical man was reckoning without the college girl. For among college women, there is only one divorce to eighty-seven graduates. Some colleges show even a smaller percentage. So it would seem the college girl, if she becomes numerous enough, and the outlook now is that she will—may settle the divorce question.

But this is not all that college women are doing. At a meeting of collegiate alumni in New York recently, special stress was laid upon the part that training for home life should play in the college girl's education. Those women who have been through college and are out in the world, who have the broadest possible outlook on life, are throwing the weight of the influence of college life on the side of domesticity and the home. But they do not want the old-fashioned home training, which was largely a matter of tradition. They want the college girl to be a scientific housekeeper, a housekeeper who understands the chemistry of food, the principles of sanitation, the physiology and psychology of rearing and training children. And this kind of home-making is the home-making that will last, that will bring satisfaction to the home-maker because her work is of the kind to satisfy her mind and heart, and satisfaction to the inmates of the home, because it will be run economically, healthfully and artistically.

And so college life for our girls is a benefit to the girl herself, to the home, and to the community. And it is becoming such a factor in the life of our women that the future is bright with the promise of the benefits that will follow.

But this is not all that college women are doing. At a meeting of collegiate alumni in New York recently, special stress was laid upon the part that training for home life should play in the college girl's education. Those women who have been through college and are out in the world, who have the broadest possible outlook on life, are throwing the weight of the influence of college life on the side of domesticity and the home. But they do not want the old-fashioned home training, which was largely a matter of tradition. They want the college girl to be a scientific housekeeper, a housekeeper who understands the chemistry of food, the principles of sanitation, the physiology and psychology of rearing and training children. And this kind of home-making is the home-making that will last, that will bring satisfaction to the home-maker because her work is of the kind to satisfy her mind and heart, and satisfaction to the inmates of the home, because it will be run economically, healthfully and artistically.

And so college life for our girls is a benefit to the girl herself, to the home, and to the community. And it is becoming such a factor in the life of our women that the future is bright with the promise of the benefits that will follow.

THE SOLDIER, HIS WIDOW AND ORPHAN.

We wish to state a few facts through the columns of your worthy paper, what the mission of the Daughters of Veterans really is. That the public will know just what the proceeds of the entertainment at the High school auditorium on Thursday evening, Jan. 16 is for.

We Daughters of Ohio are banded together to do honor to the living soldier, his widow and orphan or today. We look to their needs, assist them in every possible way. This work is carried on throughout the United States and the amount of good done by our little mites can only be seen to be appreciated.

The charity rendered to this same cause by the Woman's Relief Corps of the country is wonderful; there is no organization that has done as much for the poor as the Woman's Relief Corps. It is the mission of the daughters to build themselves up to the standard of our corps, these mothers are getting old and will soon pass the border, just as our noble fathers, and our daughters and sons are working our way to be of the same benefit to the general public as they have been in the past. Therefore, we strive to enlarge our organization, to enlarge our force to the cause of charity, we administer the greatest of all causes in the whole world.

We have little ones who have been made glad through the work of the daughters. Many an old lady's heart has been made glad and many an old comrade has been cheered. Many a destitute family has been made comfortable by the efforts of this band of patriotic girls, organized in 1885, by a tiny seed sown at Massillon, Ohio, and through the efforts of our martyred president, William McKinley, the father of our order.

and John Gilman, past commander in chief of the Grand Army, have done much to help us grow until now at the age of 26 years we are formed in man, cities all over the country from Maine to California, throughout the north and south.

Friends, have you ever stopped to consider "what a rose to the living is worth countless wreaths to the dead." This home talent entertainment given here on Tuesday, January 16 at the High school auditorium is for the promotion of this cause.

The general existence of our order and assistance to these brave heroes and their loved ones. Our program will consist of a drill by 20 little girls, all dressed to show loyalty to their flag, "one flag our fathers saved." The drum corps will give us a showing with their uniforms which will be of great benefit to all those present. We will have an address by Attorney Link Russell and others. A. H. Painter will sing "Dixie Land," a solo of great favor. Mrs. Bonshire will render selections which is bound to please. Then there will be short songs by little girls. In all this will be a something that all cannot help to enjoy and we invite as many as can possible come out on that evening.

The instrumental music will be furnished by Miss Doctor Boyer and Miss Verna Graham and will be well selected. We want to make you feel that an evening well spent with us will be one remembered by you and highly appreciated by us. We are anxious to make this one great success and solicit the assistance of one and all, not only the patriotic organizations of Newark but every one interested in our good work. Be sure and come.

FOUR FOUND DEAD IN PHILADELPHIA BOARDING HOUSE

Philadelphia, Jan. 8—Mystery surrounds the deaths of four persons whose bodies fully clothed, were found yesterday in a room of the boarding house of Mrs. Bridget Flanagan. The dead are Mrs. Flanagan, aged 38; her daughter Annie, aged 10; an adopted son, Joseph, aged 15 months, and Catherine Murray, a boarder. Mrs. Flanagan's husband, it is said left her 10 days ago.

The authorities have been unable to determine whether the deaths were due to coal gas or to poisoned milk, of which all four partook. Some crystals were found in an empty milk pitcher.

Mrs. Hanna Curran, a sister of Mrs. Flanagan was found unconscious in another room of the house. The hospital physicians say she is suffering from pneumonia.

Daddy's Bedtime

Santa Claus
Tries the New
Wireless System

Santa Claus Had a Wireless Plant Put In

"I'm getting tired of having so many letters from my little friends lost in the mail through the carelessness of these postoffice people," said Santa Claus.

The children smiled as daddy began his usual bedtime story thus. They liked stories about Santa.

"Yes," daddy went on, "Santa was plainly annoyed. I'm tired of making complaints. Not the least attention is paid to them, although every year I threaten to ignore the chubbiness of anybody that works for a postoffice. They all bank on my good nature, and I am good natured, if I do say it myself, grumbled the dear old saint.

"But this year I'll just get even with those postoffice people. I'll put in a wireless plant. Young Chris has been wanting one for a long time. He can't tend to it for me."

"Well, Santa was as good as his word. He had a wireless telegraph outfit put in at North Pole place. He got it cheap, too, because of the advertisement it would be for the telegraph company to serve so popular a person. Santa chuckled when he told Mrs. Santa about his bargain.

"I hope it may prove as nice as you hope, my dear," she said. "But somehow I don't care for that long pole sticking up from the top of the ice tower. You know what awful electrical storms we have here."

"Not the least danger in the world, my dear," answered Santa. "When folks found Santa could be reached by wireless the messages began to pour in. At first Santa was so tickled that he said he would send an answer to every one, but it soon became such a task that he left it to Chris.

"But the worst of it was that a good many boys that Santa had on his list were interested in wireless telegraphy and owned plants of their own. When they found out that Santa had one they shamelessly listened to his messages and then told every one they knew. 'Poor old Santa Claus' Christmas secrets soon became no secrets at all.

"When Santa found this out, of course he was mad. Chris was ordered to send out word that no boys who had a wireless telegraph outfit would be visited that year by Santa Claus.

"When the eavesdroppers heard this they were pretty badly frightened. 'I'll just have to change nearly all my Christmas plans since those boys have been spring on me,' groaned Santa. 'Chris, you just take out that wireless outfit at once. Maybe the mails aren't all I could wish, but they are a heap more convenient for an old fashioned saint like me than this newfangled wireless.'"

How You Can Help.

Tuberculosis can only be wiped out in Ohio by the combined efforts of all the citizens in the State. The question concerns every one of us. How can it be done? By organizing our forces and fighting the disease along offensive and defensive lines. By offensive lines is meant all measures for destroying or preventing the scattering of the germs which cause the disease. By defensive lines is meant all measures that promote health and thus enable the body to resist these germs.

There must be an active campaign that will enter all homes, and change the thought and habits of the people in respect to this disease. This means active workers. You can join the work by talking health, distributing literature about the disease, arranging for lectures, and in many other ways arousing your own people about this disease. The State Society has an office in Columbus, Ohio and the paid workers there will be glad to help you in your local work.

Nervous Debility a Modern Ailment
Cause by City Life—Try
Tona Vita.

Every large city in the United States contains countless numbers of worn out half sick men and women with poor appetites and bad digestions. They have no energy, little vitality and are despondent and nervous.

They have cold feet, sallow complexions and they say they are "run down."

The right name for the trouble is nervous debility and it is produced by the strain and hustle and worry of modern life.

Many think indigestion causes the half bad feeling which afflicts them and they take "something to digest their food." This is all wrong. It may afford temporary relief but the cause of their stomach trouble is the nervous, debilitated condition of the entire system and this must be overcome before the stomach will perform its functions properly.

Nervous debility is a modern ailment caused by city life. There is a modern tonic that overcomes this trouble like magic. It is called Tona Vita. If you are afflicted with nervous debility don't wait another day feeling miserable. Stop dosing your stomach. Get this great tonic and you will be astonished how quickly your strength and ambition will return and how your stomach trouble will disappear.

Tona Vita is sold on trial and must bring back your health or the price is refunded.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is the assistant remedy to Tona Vita and is used in cases of chronic constipation. There is nothing equal to rhubarb as a natural laxative. Harsher drugs strain the intestines and leave them weak. Rhubarb acts as a tonic and gives them strength. Tona Vita and Lee's Rhubarb Laxative are sold in Newark by R. F. Collins. They are splendid modern medicines.

are a bit nervous, and the fact is evident. They are fearful that a row may be started, and trouble is what they want to avoid. There are several things over which they would very easily pick a quarrel which would do the party no small amount of harm at times.

One thing bothering them is what Bryan will say at the Jackson day dinner. He may introduce some new ideas and policies, and he may indulge in some personalities, which would arouse a great deal of feeling, and promote discord, while harmony is desired. While no one here assumes to speak for Bryan, still there is the hope expressed that he will not offend the tender sensibilities of any one in his after dinner speech. He will be implored to be gentle, and it is quite certain that none of the speakers who precede him will say anything which should lead the Nebraskaans to start a row.

But however successful the Democrats may get with their dinner plans, it is quite certain that there will be serious trouble in the National Committee arising over the two contested seats, one from Pennsylvania, and the other from Tennessee. If Bryan goes into the committee with a proxy, as it is said he will, there will be something doing.

Enough is known of his stand to warrant the assertion by his friends that he is strong for Representative A. Mitchell Palmer as against Colonel James W. Guifey in the Pennsylvania case, and for Robert E. Lee Montcastle as against J. E. Vertress in the Tennessee contest.

The old-line regulars, the conservatives of the committee, are almost to a man on the other side, and will support Guifey and Vertress. That spells a row right from the start as the determination of the contests will be necessary before the committee can transact the business for which it is called together.

Ordinarily a contest over a seat in the committee at this time, when there is nothing else for the committee to decide, except the time and place for holding the convention and the making of preliminary arrangements for the national gathering, would not be a serious matter. This is particularly the case since the present committee will go out of business with the holding of the convention six months hence. But in one instance, the Pennsylvania case—the candidacy of Governor Wilson for the presidency is involved, while in the Tennessee controversy the electoral vote is said to be endangered.

While every one of the ten or a dozen aspirants for the presidential nomination has his friends and supporters among the Democrats here, the Wilson sentiment dominates, and the reports made by Democrats arising from points distant, indicate that he is at least the favorite in a big field.

The committee was called to order at noon. It is now planned that Chairman Mack shall immediately designate a committee to hear each case and report at 3:00 o'clock, at which time recess will be taken. No matter what the committee's report a show down will be necessary in the full committee. When the battle is over and the wounded are removed from the field the committee will be able to proceed with its regular business.

Despite the fact that New Yorkers who want the $50,000 bid and have Augustus Thomas, the eloquent playwright to present their claims, and the fact that Mayor Carter H. Harrison is scheduled to speak for Chicago, these two cities seem to be out of the race.

The fight now has narrowed to one between Baltimore and St. Louis with Denver only having a chance in the desire of one of the leaders to beat the other. St. Louis' chances look good, but by no means certain.

After all the other questions have been fought out and disposed of there will be a nice little tilt over the selection of a committee to make the preliminary arrangements for the convention. Tom Taggart has been mentioned, and no sooner was he spoken of than the progressives began a fight upon him. They will have none of Tom in theirs if they can help it. While ostensibly for Marshall, they declare that he is really a reactionary and is helping to line up things for Harmon.

A great deal of power rests with the committee on arrangements. It will select the temporary chairman and temporary officers and the means the control of the convention at the start, including the determination of the committee, which will decide contests and all that sort of thing.

On this question there will be another line-up in the committee with the conservatives on one side and the progressives on the other, and here again the advantages of the disadvantages to Governor Wilson are to be considered. Governor Wilson is expected to arrive today.

Somebody evidently with a desire to puncture the Wilson boom and alienate the support of the ultra Bryan man who may be in favor of the New Jersey Governor, today started the report that a bombshell was soon to be thrown into the Wilson camp. It was said to be in the form of a letter which Governor Wilson while President of Princeton, and long before he became a gubernatorial candidate, much less a presidential possibility, had written to one A. H. Jolin, of New York, in which he passed severe criticism upon William J. Bryan.

It is said that the letter which was really a denunciation of Bryan, fell into the hands of some professor at Princeton, who was unfriendly to the former president of the university, and that a photograph was taken of it and copies made for circulation.

When this story got out it was met with the rejoinder that Bryan and his close friends knew all about it and were not now aggrieved over it. It was said that Harry W. Walker, one of Bryan's warmest friends heard about it months ago and reported to Bryan, whereupon Bryan is quoted as having said:

"The opinion of Woodrow Wilson as president of Princeton College is one thing and the opinion of Woodrow Wilson as a candidate for the presidential nomination, is another. I do not believe he would say now, what he is reported to have said then, and the latter does not matter."

In connection with the rumors and gossip about the doings of the national committee there is the further story to the effect that an effort will be made to have the committee endorse a movement to abrogate the two thirds rule which is required to nominate a candidate.

There is said to be some sentiment in favor of such a proposition, but it does not appear to meet with general favor. The friends of each candidate fear that the other fellow might gain an advantage by such action. Moreover the two thirds rule has come to be almost sacred with the Democrats. It is an institution, a tradition and they are inclined to be slow about abandoning it.

The rule was adopted in 1832 and has since prevailed at all conventions. While it would not lie within the power of the National Committee to abolish it, action by the convention itself being necessary, still it is said that there may be an attempt to get the committee to go on record in regard to the matter.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Proposed by Congressman

To give every man and woman over 60 years old a pension from the United States treasury, is the surprising proposal of a congressman.

Each of our old people need is help in keeping up strength and vigor.

Thousands of them know that the greatest help they can get is our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, called Vinol.

Mrs. Mary Ivey of Columbus, Ga., says "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people you would be unable to supply the demand. I never took anything before that did me so much good as Vinol has done. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

Vinol rejuvenates the energy and strengthens their thinned blood and improves their appetite and digestion, and is also so pleasant to take that they like to use it. We guarantee Vinol to give perfect satisfaction and pay back your money if it does not. Frank D. Hall, druggist, Newark, O.

BODIES OF AGED COUPLE MUTILATED

Terrible Tragedy in New York Results in Detection of Daughter of Victims.

New York, Jan. 8.—As a sequel to the finding yesterday of the mutilated bodies of two aged East Side residents, Isaac Futterman, aged 80, and his wife, Rachel, aged 72, in their home, victims of a shocking double murder, Etka Futterman, the 40-year-old daughter of the slain couple, was taken last night to Bellevue Hospital for observation as to her mental condition. She had become hysterical when informed of the double killing, and a search of an apartment in the house where she lived, some distance from her parents' home, revealed, according to detectives, a blood-stained shirtwaist and various other articles of apparel stained with blood.

No charge was preferred against the distraught woman, who declared she was innocent of the crime.

Etka Futterman's removal to Bellevue was at the request of Aaron Futterman, her brother, who declared that she was confined in an institution for the insane several years ago.

The police have from the first scouted the theory of robbery as a motive for the murder and expressed belief that it was committed by a religious fanatic.

The double murder is one of the most shocking in details of any since the Guldensuppe dismemberment and the Jack, the Ripper, series of crimes. The bodies were terribly mutilated.

Futterman was a retired manufacturer who had accumulated a small fortune, but always had refused to leave the East Side neighborhood, where he settled when he came from Russia many years ago. He was a zealous church worker and aided in founding a synagogue in his district, which he and his wife attended.

The couple lived alone. Their three children dwelt in other parts of the city. One of these, Aaron Futterman, superintendent of a brass factory, discovered the bodies on his weekly visit to his parents. The father's body lay on a sofa and the mother's on a bed. Each was only partially dressed. There were deep gashes across both faces and bodies, and the eyes of both were terribly mutilated, one of the man's having been torn from the sockets.

The man's abdomen was brutally slashed, and there were cuts running lengthwise from head to foot. The nature of the mutilation led the police to believe that it had been begun while the Futtermans were alive, and that death had actually been caused by blows over the head, which fractured both skulls. The bodies bore finger prints which police experts took photographs of.

A small neck bag in which Mrs. Futterman is said to have carried money and jewelry which Mr. Futterman is said to have worn could not be found. The police, however, scout robbery as the motive for the crime.

Aaron Futterman said he did not know that his father had an enemy. His father kept practically all his money in a bank. The police believe that the murder occurred several days ago, as decomposition had set in. Neighbors do not remember having seen the aged couple since January 3.

THE "TWO-THIRDS RULE"

For four score years, with now and then a brief interruption, the Democratic party has been selecting its candidates for president and vice president by a vote of two-thirds of the delegates in convention assembled.

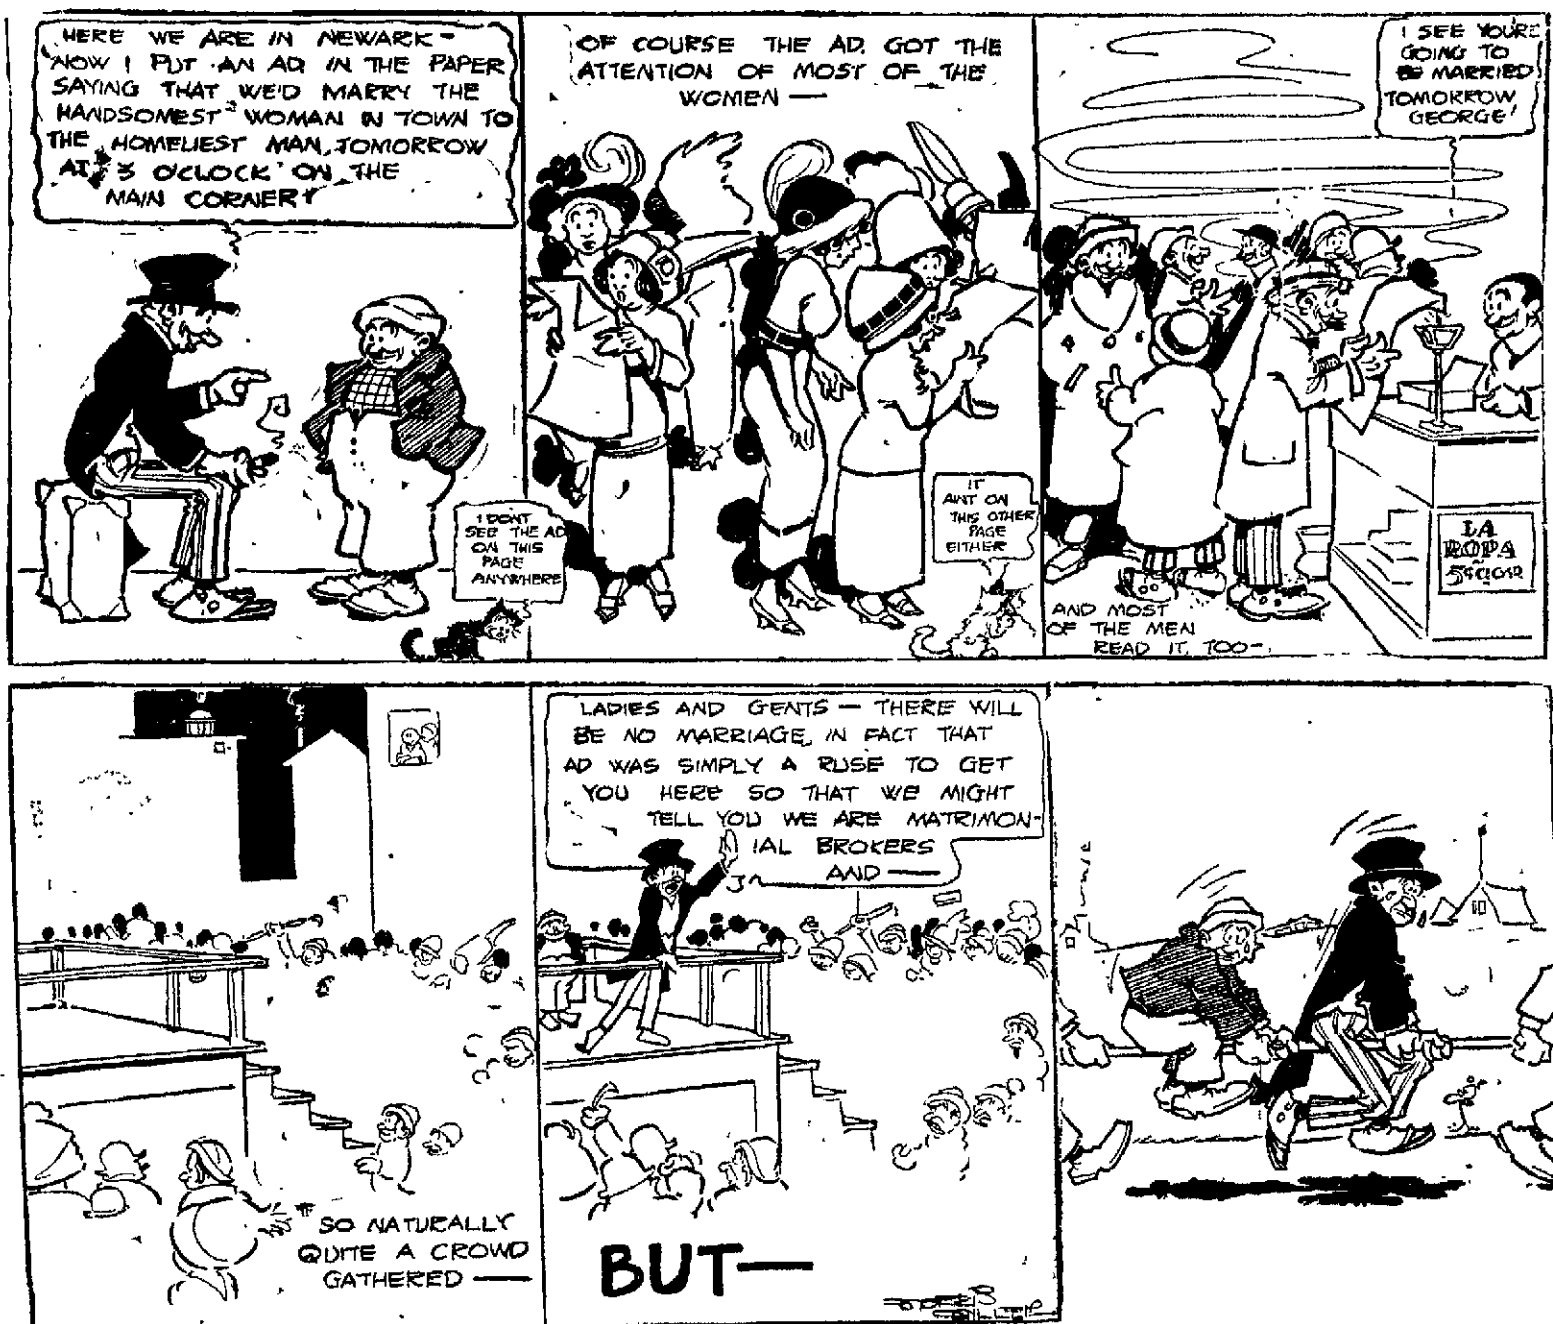

There have been protests registered from time to time, and now and then the rule has been set aside, but the protests availed nothing and the rule was discarded usually when little attention was given to it. Whenever it has been made an issue it has never been maintained. In the convention of 1912 it is sure to be questioned. Possibly the direct move may be made to set it aside, and there. More probably a resolution will be offered declaring that the sense of the convention that, while it would be inexpedient to change the rule without notice, future conventions should return to the principle of nomination by a majority alone.

There has always been restiveness under the two-thirds rule, but its opponents have attacked it at the wrong point. In the Republican party the battle has been fought to a finish and both rules have been discarded, but in the Democratic party the unit rule is buttressed by a line of precedents dating back to 1832. Even in 1860, when the Democracy split in twain, both conventions declared that each state convention should vote, and that only in states not so directing might each delegate vote as a unit, and that only in the case of the Republican party should the unit rule be maintained.

The unit rule has been attacked from every side, but has thus far met and defeated its assailants. This year, however, brings a new problem. The vitality of the unit rule is attacked by legislation in various states prescribing the method of electing delegates to the state convention. As a result there will be many state delegations upon which the unit rule cannot be imposed. This will be the case in both New Jersey and Ohio, states that will furnish two leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination. Of course both of these delegations may vote as a unit, but it will be because each delegate was instructed by his immediate constituents, not because a majority in a state convention directed that the delegation vote as a unit, and thus conferred upon the majority of the delegation power to stifle the expression of belief by the majority. This situation exists, furthermore, in North Dakota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, California and Oregon.—Willis J. Abbot, in Harper's Weekly.

EVERYTHING SHAPING UP NICELY FOR THE COMING SEASON IN O. S. LEAGUE

(Sciotto Gazette.)

Pessimists who have been predicting the disbanding of the Ohio State league will have to make another guess if the developments arising at the meeting of the National Commission in Cincinnati mean anything. The expected difficulty of re-organizing the circuit is fading away and instead it looks as though 1912 will prove one of the most prosperous years in the history of the league.

Springfield has been turned over to the Central league, but in payment Owner Watkins has pledged himself to install a club at Newark, Mansfield dropped from the O.-P. league which has combined with the Central, will again join hands with the Ohio State. This gives the league Portsmouth, Chillicothe, Mansfield, Newark and Hamilton Lima and Lancaster in all probability will return to the fold and it will not be a hard matter to supply the eighth city.

Prospects so far as the local club is concerned are exceedingly bright. While several holes remain to be filled, the nucleus of one of the strongest organizations in the league still remains. Of the pitching staff there is no fear. Beebe, Grandle, Longmore and McGrath will be back again and this quartet has already gone through part of a season as a highly successful flinging staff. While Beebe didn't do much last season he is expected to show wonderful improvement next year and with his latent ability should prove one of the best box men in the circuit.

Two catchers and two outfielders and a second baseman must be secured to plug the existing holes in the Babes' line-up. The catching problem is the sticky one to solve. Both Reilly and Luke were gobbled by draft-wielders and two good men must be secured before the infants can even hope to do things this year. The local club officials are optimistic however, and believe that the right men for the places can be secured. Billy Doyle has made arrangements to have several high class men sent here and as he was responsible for the coming of little Muck McGrath his assistance will undoubtedly count for a great deal.

Whatever the final outcome may be however, Chillicothe is in the Ohio State league to stick. League ball has taken root here and will not be abandoned. With the nucleus of a team left and with the local management ready and eager for the advent of another season there seems but little doubt but what another year will come and go as successful, if not more so, as the last.

EDUCATIONAL AND BIBLE CLASSES AT LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

Now that the building has been put in good condition for all lines of association work, the employed officers are announcing their plans for the winter. Tonight at 5:30 o'clock the younger high school boys meet for supper and to perfect plans for a course in character study, led by Associate Secretary H. E. McMaster. Tomorrow night the grade school boys meet for study on the life of Christ. The educational class for employed boys will also begin tonight. The shops and factories have been visited and employed boys are urged to patronize this class. The fee is so small that no boy need stay away because of lack of money. Prof. H. J. Dickinson, of the Newark High school, will be the teacher. Plans are on foot for some classes among our coming Americans. This will be announced next week.

Taylor hall has been put in good condition and the first boys' meeting will be held next Sunday at 2 p. m. The boys' room on the second floor is being fitted up with games and good reading material. OIL AND GAS NOTES

In the deep sand territory in southeastern Ohio, in Coal township, Perry county, near Straitsville, the Charters Oil company has drilled its No. 7 on the Hocking Product company's tract through the sand and has a show for a good producer. It will be given a shot. No. 14 on the same tract is drilling in the top of the sand.

There is quite a lot of test work starting in the New Straitsville end of the field. The Kentucky Oil and Gas company is drilling on the Thomas Fletcher farm, the Lynch Oil and Gas company on the Thomas Lynch, the Essex Coal company on the Nelson Essex farm, the Producers Supply company on the Ambrose Gibbs and Aaron Goldstein & Company on the Harrison Hazleton farm's farm.

In the old Bremen district, (Perry county), W. A. Drman, Drman & Company have drilled a second test on the Gayton farm in the top of the sand and have a show for a 30-barrel producer. In the same district the Westek-Nader Oil and Gas company has drilled in a second test on the Mary Young farm and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. The Carter Oil company's No. 7, John Stoner, and No. 3, Samuel Black farms, are drilling in the top of the Clinton sand.

To the north of the Bremen field the spot that is among the late attractions is confined to Licking, Muskingum and Coshocton counties, where good oil finds have been made. These three counties have been growing in favor during the past couple of months. There is more new work under way and starting in the Hopewell township end of Muskingum county than at any time since the Columbus Gas and Fuel company drilled in its first well on the Johnson-Cong farm, early in the year. The territory, while it is on the spotted order, shows such fine showing qualities that the large concerns feel that they can well afford to take long chances in giving the territory a thorough test. The new field opened up by the Columbus Gas and Fuel company in Hopewell township, Licking county just across the line from Hopewell township, Muskingum county, is now attracting more attention than any of the northern extensions in the deep-sand districts. The first well on the McCracken farm maintains a daily production of about 50 barrels, and the second makes a better showing.

The Everett company recently finished two wells in Harrison township. The Eugene Harris well proved to be good for two million while the one on the A. I. Seward farm proved to be a dry hole.

BROKE ALL RECORDS.

California broke all record in 1910 in the production of oil by a single state. Her output was nearly 25 per cent of the greatest oil production ever attained by the United States. The California wells, according to the United States Geological Survey's report on petroleum, contributed 73,010,360 barrels to the total, which was greater than the production of Russia (the second producing country in the world

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF POTATOES 1910-11

The recent announcement that large quantities of potatoes are being imported into the United States leads interest to a statement prepared by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, showing the imports and exports of potatoes during a term of years. While the production of potatoes in the United States is usually sufficient to meet the requirements of its population, there has been a number of occasions following short crops in the United States, on which considerable quantities were imported. On other occasions, when there were shortages abroad and large crops in the United States, considerable quantities were exported. The total imports of potatoes into the United States in the last ten years aggregated 22,845,631 bushels, valued at $10,985,770, or about 12c per bushel. This valuation being based upon the wholesale market price in the countries from which imported and does not, therefore, include the cost of transportation or duties paid, the rate of duty being 25 cents per bushel of 60 pounds, both under the present law and its immediate predecessor. The exports of potatoes from the United States during the same decade amounted to 10,950,566 bushels, valued at $8,413,675, an average of 77 cent, per bushel.

Potatoes imported into the United States come chiefly from Canada, Mexico, and Bermuda in America, and Scotland, England, Ireland, Germany, and France in Europe, while in recent years small quantities have also been brought from China, Australia, and the Canary Islands. The potatoes exported go chiefly to the West Indies, Central America and Canada, the largest quantities usually to Cuba, Canada, and Panama and lesser quantities to other Central American states and the West Indian Islands. Small quantities have also been sent in recent years to China, Hongkong, British Guiana, the Philippine Islands, French Oceania, and certain of the South American countries, but practically none to Europe, which, although a large consumer of potatoes, is also a large producer.

The world's potato crop, so far as it can be measured statistically, runs between five and six billion bushels per annum, but these figures do not include the production of China, North Africa, and most South America, the original home of the potato which was found under cultivation in South America by the Spanish discoverers and transplanted to Spain and thence to other parts of Europe. Germany is by far the latest single producer of potatoes, her total crop for 1909, the latest available figure, being 1,116 million bushels, against 1,172 million in European Russia, 613 million in France, 450 million in America, 181 million in Hungary, 127 million in Ireland, 99 million in Canada, and 377 million in the United States.

New York is the largest potato-producing state in the United States, her product in 1910 being 44,500,000 bushels, against 35,000,000 in Michigan, 28,000,000 in Maine, 23,000,000 in Pennsylvania, 23,000,000 in Wisconsin, 15,000,000 in Ohio, 12,750,000 in Illinois, 12,500,000 in Iowa, and about 10,000,000 bushels each in Minnesota and New Jersey, while practically all the remaining states are represented with totals ranging from one million to eight million bushels each.

The largest importation of potatoes during the past decade occurred in 1909, being eight and one-third million bushels; the largest exports of the decade occurred in 1911 being two and one-third million bushels.

—Mr. Child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep. —Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

YOUTH AND OLD AGE

(By Mary E. Fuller.)
In the clear blue eyes of the innocent child
There lurks no fear or consciousness of time;
By each bright flower or butterfly beguiled
It romps and plays in carelessness sublime.
It capers about as does the butterfly
The little bare feet traveling toward his goal
Until one comes with weak steps tottering by.
And joins the child upon his blossomy knoll.

'Tis one whose hair is whitened with the snows
Of many a winter, as he walked
Life's pathway;
He like the child caresses each flower that grows
Within his reach, unnoticed 'til today.

And in his faded eyes there dwains a wondering light,
As if surprised that men should ever be
Such slaves of Time, so fearful of its flight.
As to miss all Nature's sweet reality.

Youth and old age alike, their footsteps cease,
Curiously they watch Time's form expand.
And thus they linger, hand in hand
Until forced into God's eternal peace.

SAGE RESTORES

GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior oil of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself, quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

MAYOR EXPELLED BY SOCIALISTS FROM THE PARTY

Lima, O., Jan. 8.—At a big meeting of Socialists Sunday, Mayor Corbin Shook was formally expelled from the party for life. In a bitter debate, Safety Director Edwin Blank threw down the gauntlet for himself and other appointees and declared they would accept office despite the action of the local. Their cases were referred to the legislative committee the sense of which is that they also will be expelled. Only two of the Socialists named by Shook stood loyal and these will decline their appointments.

GASPED FOR BREATH

Gastritis Nearly Ended Life of Wm. V. Matthews, Read His Letter.

"I was bothered for years with stomach trouble and gastritis. Food laid like lead in my stomach and fermented, forming gas. This caused a pressure on my heart, so that I choked and gasped for breath, and thought my time had come. MI-ONA cured me after I had doctored without success."—Wm. V. Matthews, Bloomington, Ind.

If you suffer from indigestion, headaches, dizziness, biliousness, constipation, inactive liver, nervousness, sleeplessness, bad dreams, foul breath, heartburn, shortness of breath, sour stomach, or constipation, be sure and get MI-ONA stomach tablets. They are guaranteed. Large box 50 cents at Evans Drug Store and druggists everywhere.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. Cascarets tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10 cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep the stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

PASTOR IS STRICKEN IN HIS PULPIT

Columbus, Jan. 8.—Rev. L. C. Haddox, a former pastor at Third street and North Methodist churches, was stricken in his pulpit yesterday at New Lexington while delivering a sermon. He was at once taken to his home and given medical aid, after which it was said that he had a fair chance to recover, despite his serious condition. The attack was in the nature of a stroke of paralysis.
Rev. Mr. Haddox had been in New Lexington only since the last conference. He is 56 years old and has been in the Methodist ministry since 1875. In 1885 he was superintendent of the Portsmouth District. From 1898 to 1901 he was pastor of the Third Street M. E. church. He returned here from Chillicothe in 1903 and was the pastor of the North Methodist church until September, 1911.

He has a wife and six children. A son, Corydon M. Haddox, formerly was a Columbus newspaper man.
